

Philip "Flip" Whitworth

Flip joined the firm in 1977 when the firm's practice centered on oil and gas litigation and regulation. He continues to focus primarily on oil and gas regulatory issues involving the Railroad Commission of Texas and the General Land Office. Flip became board certified in Oil, Gas and Mineral Law in 1986, was chairman of the Oil, Gas & Mineral Law Section (now Oil, Gas & Energy Resources Section) of both the State Bar of Texas and Travis County Bar Association, has been a frequent guest teacher at oil, gas and energy related classes and seminars at The University of Texas School of Law and was selected for "Lawyer of the Year" in Oil & Gas Law, by U.S. News – Best Lawyers® Report, 2014. Flip has also been a speaker and author on oil and gas regulatory topics at many seminars and conferences across the state.
