Overview

John is a commercial trial lawyer with extensive experience litigating disputes in the energy, medical device/pharmaceutical, financial services, and real estate development sectors. He also regularly advises clients in complex government investigations and government entity litigation. As a dual JD/MBA graduate and former manager for a Fortune 50 company, John leverages his business experience to help his clients resolve complex legal problems.

His practice routinely involves disputes concerning products liability, breach of contract, fraud, securities, real property, misappropriation of trade secrets, breach of fiduciary duty, deceptive trade practices claims, and various other consumer-protection statutes. John regularly represents clients in mass torts litigation, putative class actions, and other high-stakes disputes before state and federal courts and arbitration panels across the country.

Prior to joining Scott Douglass & McConnico, John practiced for several years with Locke Lord LLP. Before entering private practice, he served as a briefing attorney for the Honorable Paul W. Green of the Supreme Court of Texas. Before he obtained his JD and MBA degrees, John led various business units as a manager in the renowned AT&T Leadership Development Program.

John is actively involved in various state bar and other civic organizations. He served for many years on the Texas Young Lawyers Association Board of Directors where he helped create and execute a wide variety of public service projects. He also served as the District Representative for District 25 (South/Central Texas) to the Young Lawyers Division of the American Bar Association. John and his wife are actively involved in their church. He also volunteers time helping develop future leaders through the Boy Scouts of America, where he serves as the Cubmaster of Pack 25 and as the General Counsel and Executive Board Member of the Capitol Area Council, representing a thirteen-county region across Central Texas.

Experience

John has assisted clients in all phases of the dispute-resolution process, including pretrial and trial, post-judgment remedies, and appeals. He also has experience advising clients in pre-litigation matters and assisting with government investigations, enforcement matters, and regulatory compliance issues. John regularly cross-examines key fact and expert witnesses in disputes across the country. He also has extensive experience drafting and arguing pretrial motions, and has prevailed in numerous case-dispositive motions in state and federal courts. John has extensive experience managing litigation teams in complex multidistrict litigation dockets.

His clients range from multinational and Fortune 500 companies to regional businesses and individuals.

Products Liability Litigation

Representation of a major pharmaceutical company in multidistrict litigation and individual lawsuits concerning prescription opioids. John worked closely with lead liaison counsel to help orchestrate key defense strategy and served as a principal architect for various key bellwether procedures on behalf of major industry groups in one of the most complex mass-tort proceedings in history. The plaintiffs included government entities, quasi-governmental entities, and individuals, involving numerous tort and statutory theories and alleged damages in the tens of billions of dollars. In addition to taking a leading role in briefing on dispositive and discovery issues, John deposed numerous key fact witnesses in bellwether proceedings that ultimately resulted in a favorable settlement for his multinational client.

Repeated representation of major medical device company in hundreds of federal multidistrict litigation and individual federal and state courts involving pelvic mesh products

Repeated representation of major medical device company as trial counsel in numerous bellwether proceedings before federal and state multidistrict litigations involving hernia mesh products

John has provided on-site trial support to lead trial counsel in medical device jury trials, which has included preparing defense experts, preparing witness outlines, arguing case-specific and company witness deposition designations, and arguing motions in limine against lead Plaintiffs' counsel.

Dunfee v. Johnson & Johnson, et al. – Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas, Pelvic Mesh Litigation, 2019. John served on the trial team in a four-week jury trial in which the jury awarded only compensatory damages. At the time, the Dunfee trial resulted in the lowest plaintiff jury verdict in the Philadelphia pelvic mesh litigation.
