

Stephen Burbank

Stephen's background in land and mineral interest issues combined with his time spent as a Federal Judicial Law Clerk to the Honorable Alan Albright give him valuable perspective when it comes to working with clients.

While attending Texas A&M University, Stephen worked as a Petroleum Landman for a land and title company where he worked alongside attorneys to identify, research and remedy title issues.

During law school, Stephen served as Managing Executive Editor of the Baylor Law Review, and was chosen to represent Baylor at the National Moot Court Competition sponsored by the NYC Bar Committee on Young Lawyers.

Stephen graduated first in his class at Baylor Law School and went on to earn the highest score on the July 2018 Texas Bar Exam.
